SPORTS IN SECONDARY SCHOOLS

All pupils in the UK have to do PE (or Physical Education) at school until they are 16. The most popular sport at school is football, played by girls and boys. Pupils play other traditional team games such as rugby, field hockey, netball or do individual physical activities like athletics or gymnastics. Today, some schools offer more modern sports and physical activities such as dance, fitness or Ultimate Frisbee.

What is netball? This competitive sport is played between two teams. There are seven players on each team and you score goals by throwing the ball into a net. It is similar to basketball, but you can't run with the ball. At UK schools mainly girls play this sport.

What is Ultimate Frisbee? A game played by two teams of seven players on a field. You score goals by throwing the Frisbee (a plastic disc) into the 'endzone', but be careful, you can't run with the Frisbee!

How much sport do secondary students do?

On average 14 to 16-year-olds do about 100 minutes of sport a week at school. Pupils who enjoy PE can do out-of-hours school sport at a school sports club after school or at lunchtime. Schools often have teams that play in intra-school (within the school) and inter-school (between two or more schools) leagues and competitions.

Teachers and educationalists tell us that young people should do sport and need to understand that fitness is important to be healthy and do well at school.
